NEW AMERICANS IN THE SOONER STATE: The Political and Economic Power of Immigrants, Latinos, and Asians in Oklahoma

Immigrants, Latinos, and Asians account for growing shares of the economy and electorate in Oklahoma. Immigrants (the foreign-born) make up one-in-twenty Oklahomans, and one-third of them are naturalized U.S. citizens who are eligible to vote. “New Americans”—immigrants and the children of immigrants—account for 2.6% of registered voters in the state. Immigrants are not only integral to the state’s economy as workers, but also account for billions of dollars in tax revenue and consumer purchasing power. Moreover, Latinos and Asians (both foreign-born and native-born) wield $7.9 billion in consumer purchasing power, and the businesses they own had sales and receipts of $2.0 billion and employed more than 17,000 people at last count. At a time of economic recession, Oklahoma can ill-afford to alienate such an important component of its labor force, tax base, and business community.

Immigrants and their children are growing shares of Oklahoma’s population and electorate.

- The foreign-born share of Oklahoma’s population rose from 2.1% in 1990,¹ to 3.8% in 2000,² to 5.0% in 2008,³ according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Oklahoma was home to 183,249 immigrants in 2008,⁴ which is more than the total population of Salt Lake City, Utah.⁵
- 33.3% of immigrants (or 61,025 people) in Oklahoma were naturalized U.S. citizens in 2008⁶—meaning that they are eligible to vote.
- 2.6% (or 46,175) of registered voters in Oklahoma were “New Americans”—naturalized citizens or the U.S.-born children of immigrants who were raised during the current era of immigration from Latin America and Asia which began in 1965—according to an analysis of 2006 Census Bureau data by Rob Paral & Associates.⁷

Nearly one-in-eleven Oklahomans are Latino or Asian.

- The Latino share of Oklahoma’s population grew from 2.7% in 1990,⁸ to 5.2% in 2000,⁹ to 7.7% (or 280,462 people) in 2008.¹⁰ The Asian share of the population grew from 1.0% in 1990,¹¹ to 1.4% in 2000,¹² to 1.7% (or 61,920 people) in 2008,¹³ according to the U.S. Census Bureau.
- Latinos accounted for 2.2% (or 33,000) of Oklahoma voters in the 2008 elections, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.¹⁴
- In Oklahoma, more than four-in-five (or 85% of) children in immigrant families were U.S. citizens in 2007,¹⁵ according to the Center for Social and Demographic Analysis at the University of Albany.

Latino and Asian entrepreneurs and consumers add billions of dollars and tens of thousands of jobs to Oklahoma's economy.

- The 2009 purchasing power of Latinos in Oklahoma totaled $5.8 billion—an increase of 708.2% since 1990. Asian buying power totaled $2.1 billion—an increase of 386.9% since 1990, according to the Selig Center for Economic Growth at the University of Georgia.¹⁶
- Oklahoma's 5,442 Latino-owned businesses had sales and receipts of $1.1 billion and employed 8,161 people in 2002, the last year for which data is available.¹⁷ The state's 4,583 Asian-owned businesses had sales and receipts of $929.1 million and employed 9,452 people in 2002, according to the U.S. Census Bureau's Survey of Business Owners.¹⁸

Immigrants are integral to Oklahoma's economy as workers and taxpayers.

- Immigrants comprised 6.7% of the state's workforce in 2008 (or 121,218 workers), according to the U.S. Census Bureau.¹⁹
- Unauthorized immigrants comprised roughly 2.2% of the state's workforce (or 40,000 workers) in 2008, according to a report by the Pew Hispanic Center.²⁰
- If one-half (roughly 50,000 people) of all the state's immigrant labor force was removed, Oklahoma's economy would be reduced by 1.32% in the short run—a reduction of nearly $1.8 billion relative to 2006 production levels, according to a 2008 study by the Economic Impact Group.²¹
- If all unauthorized immigrants were removed from Oklahoma, the state would lose $580.3 million in economic activity, $257.8 million in gross state product, and approximately 4,680 jobs, even accounting for adequate market adjustment time, according to a report by the Perryman Group.²²

Immigrants are integral to Oklahoma's economy as students.

- Oklahoma's 8,460 foreign students contributed $178 million to the state's economy in tuition, fees, and living expenses for the 2008-2009 academic year, according to NAFSA: Association of International Educators.²³

Naturalized citizens excel educationally.

- In Oklahoma, 27.7% of foreign-born persons who were naturalized U.S. citizens in 2008 had a bachelor's or higher degree, compared to 19.3% of noncitizens. At the same time, only 26.2% of naturalized citizens lacked a high-school diploma, compared to 48.4% of noncitizens.²⁴
- The number of immigrants in Oklahoma with a college degree increased by 51.1% between 2000 and 2008, according to data from the Migration Policy Institute.²⁵
- In Oklahoma, 77.3% of all children between the ages of 5 and 17 in families that spoke a language other than English at home also spoke English "very well" as of 2008.²⁶
